1. True

B. False

Question 7

“Imperial Tobacco have taken the Scottish Government to court over their plans to ban vending machines, and to ban the display of cigarettes in shops”

1. True

B. False

Answer: A, true

Imperial Tobacco lost the first case and have appealed, which is delaying this law coming into force. They succeeded in a similar case in Venezuela.

Tobacco packs are the most important way for the industry to promote cigarettes since the ban on advertising.

Young smokers surveyed said that plain packaging made them feel and look less 'fashionable', 'attractive' and 'popular'

Answer: A, true

Sinclair Collins Ltd, a firm owned by Imperial Tobacco, challenged the ban on sales from vending machines but the case was rejected by the Court of Session 13th May 2011.

Imperial tobacco also challenged the banning of the display of cigarettes and lost, but appealed which delayed the law coming into force until October. They succeeded in pressuring the government in Venezuela to drop a law enforcing plain packaging.
